P. R. MILNES

The opinions expressed in this column are the personal views of the writer and do not necessarily reflect those of the management. In fact, many times they do not.

JUDGE PROVES

HE CAN BE HARD

Until the other day I had en-tained the opinion, way back in my mind that Judge A. F. Bray was "soft" in his treatment of drunken drivers. His action, however, in sending two violators of probation to the county jail for periods of six and eight months, respectively, has caused me to view the matter in an entirely different light.

Personally I believe in tempering justice with mercy. No hard and fast rule can be laid down and exercised by any judge to cover all cases of offenders who come before him. That principle, if applied, would undoubtedly work many grave injustices. Circumstances surrounding each individual case must be the determining factors in passing judgment as to the penalty to be imposed.

Even though recognizing those truths it seemed to me that the jurist in the cases of drunken drivers was inclined to be too lenient.
The ghastly array of killed and maimed in this county demanded summary action of a nature that would tend to set an example and prove a deterrent to run-soaked drivers who make the highways unsafe for the persons who respect
the rights of others.

But as I often discover, I was wrong. Judge Bray can be hard when the occasion demands and a man has forfeited all right to fu-ther consideration at his hands.
The redivivus hereafter can hope for nothing better than jail and that is where he rightfully, legally and properly belongs.

And while on the subject of drunken drivers it may not be amiss to say that unless this June—the month of brides, vacations, flowers and picnics—falls to run true to form, the end of the month will record those appalling facts—there will be 2,500 serious accidents and 230 people will be killed. Of these 171 will be men and 63 women. The lives of 10 children, less than nine years of age will be snuffed out.
Every twelfth crash will be fatal and every seventeenth auto that piles up will cause death. Of the trucks, more lethal, every eighth that crashes will crash fatally.
That will be the toll on California highways. The drunken driver will not be responsible for all of them, but the percentage that will be laid at his door will be terrifically large enough to cause us to pause and then demand that some drastic remedy be invoked.

Twins Die On Arrival At Hospital

MARTINEZ, June 25.—Sent to the county hospital here last evening, in an attempt to save their lives by placing them in an incubator, twin daughters born to the wife of

were both dead today.

One of the babies was dead
upon arrival at the hospital and the other died an hour latter.

When it could be seen that the condition of the babies was grave, Dr. Rose Powell had them rushed here by ambulance to try and save them.

Officers For Veteran Post Are Nominated

Earl Wiles was nominated for commander of Richmond Post of the American Legion last evening when the post held first nomination at the Memorial Hall. Wiles is unopposed for election.

Second nomination and election will be held when the organization holds its meeting on July 9.

Plans are being discussed to send a number of delegates to the Hollywood convention in August. These delegates will be elected July 9.

A membership drive has been launched by the organization. At this time there are 256 members but new ones are needed to swell
the post's quota.

J. J. Barry, chairman of the advisory committee, reported that more time is needed before a decision can be reached on the proposal to build an aviary in Nichol Park.

Reports of committees were heard during the session which was directed by Commander John Kin-Kinstrey.

Following the meeting J. J. Barry acted as master of ceremonies at glas and H. S. Bridges, attorneys prosecuting the case.

Collins - Riley Feud Breaks Out Again

SACRAMENTO, June 20.—UP—The warfare between Richard E. Collins, chairman of the State Equalization Board, and Ray Riley, state controller, was renewed tonight with new charges from Collins that Riley had failed to collect $2,000,000 in delinquent gasoline taxes and intimations that there are "numerous other matters of like nature which could be mentioned."

Collins issued his original charge earlier in the month and Riley retorted with the remark that the charges were so malicious they answer themselves.

The remark brought the presiding official to the firing line again with a statement which said that the phrase "too malicious to answer" was the "accustomed retort of a person confronted by embarrassing facts which he cannot refute."

Repeating his charges against Riley, which include the delinquent tax matter, a charge of making illegal refunds of gasoline taxes, and of attempting to blacken the reputation of the late Elwood Squires, assistant secretary of the board, Collins said:

"There are numerous other charges of like nature which could be mentioned, but these should suffice to convince the most skeptical that I am not making idle charges of which Mr. Riley may dispose with the observation 'that they are their own best answer.'"

The Collins-Riley feud is of long standing. They are associated in the equalization board work, on which the controller serves in an ex officio capacity. Last year Riley succeeded in obtaining control of the board. Then another upheaval restored Collins as chairman and the controller became a minority and much less active member.

Coroner Jury Holds Train Death Accident

A coroner's jury yesterday found that Sanford Taylor, 16-year-old Oakland youth met his death from fracture of the skull and "other gross bodily injuries caused by being struck by the first section of Train No. 27 of the Southern Pacific Company. . . . and we further find the same to have been accidental."

The jury declared that "We further believe that all possible aid was rendered to the deceased."

Young Taylor was struck by the train near Cockett on Sunday afternoon. He was placed on board the train and was brought to Richmond where an ambulance had been summoned. The youth was taken to the county hospital at Martinez and he died en route to that institution.

It was believed that some error made in telephoning the ambulance sent the injured boy to the county hospital, instead of to the local hospital, authorities declare.

J. E. Hill was foreman of the jury that investigated the case.

Yesterday morning Coroner C. T.
Abbott conducted an inquest into the deaths of E. C. Broyles, 25, of Roseville and Cylstro Abrus, 43, of Concord, who were killed in a head-on collision on Tank Farm hill on June 14. The jury held that deaths were accidental. Death was caused by fractured skulls.

The jury declared that in their belief Abrus used due effort in attempting to avoid the crash.

Broyles was married in Vallejo a few hours before the crash. His bride received only minor injuries.

J. H. Chandler was foreman of the jury that conducted the inquest at the Wilson and Kratzer chap-

Meet Me at MIDNIGHT
RUTH LOUISE AYERS

Caroline Jay and Garret Cassidy love each other, but because Garret is a shiftless poolroom loafer, Caroline's mother has forbidden her to see him. Mrs. Jay, superintendent of the Avon Home for the Aged, wants Caroline to encourage Henry Ayers, whose wealthy mother is head of the Home's board of directors. One afternoon Caroline meets Garret secretly and they get married. On the way back to town they strike and kill an old man, Pop Whistler, who has run away from the Home. Rightened, they leave town, driving to the roadside. Caroline goes home, keeps a date with Henry Ayers, and plans to meet Garret later. Mrs. Jay, however, who has found out about the marriage, tells Caroline of the death and the unidentified young couple who ran him down, chances to see Garret, plotting about the chapel at the Home, and the secret of his death while Sarah Evans, pretty young nurse at the Home, who has been secretly married to Dr. Phil Williams for five years, has brought her little boy David to the Home to see his father. But Phil doesn't come, and Sarah leaves the Home to take the child back to the nursery.

CHAPTER XXVIII
DREAMING of the little boy beside her, Miss Evans slept until nearly eleven o'clock. Then she awoke with a start and stole out of David's room, downstairs. As she put on her hat and straightened her dress, the matron of the nursery came in. Miss Evans thought, "Now is my chance to talk to her." She said, "Good evening, may I speak to you for a minute?" The matron led the way into the parlor, her round face pleasant. "I hope David was all right," she said. "He's one of the best children we've ever had." "You've given him excellent training," Miss Evans agreed. Then she paused. "But I decided today that he needs something else too." The matron sat there, hands folded in her lap, her eyes kind. They all need something that we cannot give them," she said. "Yes," said Sarah, "and that's why I've decided to take David away."

THE matron had long ago learned not to question the people who brought children to the nursery home. There was no seed of family histories. This was not a charitable one. Now she said to Sarah Evans, "We will miss David a great deal, he's become well almost as dear to me as if he had been my own, but if there's a home waiting for him, it will be best for him. If we were not in a home of his own, it would mean he would be sent

Local Yacht Club To Sponsor Its Second Regatta Here Sunday

Yachtmen from throughout the bay area will participate in the second annual regatta to be held here Sunday by the Richmond Yacht Club.

The events will start at 10 A. M. and will continue through the afternoon and will have in its competition the usual one-design and percentage classes.

More than 100 entries are expected to participate in the event which has attracted the attention of all yacht clubs of the bay area.

LARGE CROWD
Last season the Richmond show drew 60 entries, but considering points tallied Sunday will add to a seasonal trophy score and that similar outings held by kindred organizations, earlier this year have lured gratifying numbers of boats, the local club is hopeful of a record-shattering participation.

The start and finish of each of the day's races will be off Point Richmond, assuring clear vision for devotees of the sailing sport who choose to select that vantage point for observation of the maneuvers.

SNIPES TO SAIL
The ships will sail a windward leeward course off the point, while the larger craft will travel a route carrying them close to the San Francisco Marina. The Dorada, winner of the recent Farallones Islands test, will be in competition, as will her arch-enemies, the Idylla and Dragon. The Myotis, Otter and Eloise are eligible and no doubt will be at the starting line in Division 7 when the "go" signal is flashed.

The race committee is headed by J. F. Serex and includes H. Bellus and T. Fowell.

DANCE FOLLOWS
The Richmond club will play host to competing yachtmen at a Saturday night dance at the club-house. Many of the skippers, their crews and friends plan to lay over at their anchorage in Richmond Harbor Saturday evening in order to take advantage of the dance and entertainment. Shore boat service will be furnished.

Sharkey Wins Decision Over Phil Brubaker

BOSTON, June 25.—UP—Jack Sharkey of Boston, another veteran heavyweight with young ideas, hammered out a unanimous and popular decision over Phil Brubaker of California in a terrific 10-round scrap before 12,000 persons here tonight.

The former heavyweight champion, flashing by far his most impressive form since he came out of retirement last winter, spoiled "Peaches" Phil's eastern debut and earned himself a possible August meeting with Joe Louis as he survived a first round knockdown and came back to have his rangy opponent hanging on at the final bell.

The United Press score sheet gave Sharkey the fourth, fifth, ninth and tenth rounds; Brubaker the first, second, sixth and eighth, and called the third and seventh even. Brubaker's best round was the first and Sharkey's the tenth. It was by saving kick for the wind-up that the 35 year old ex-champion clinched the verdict.

MANY SPORTS TRAGED FROM CHANCE ORIGIN

NEW YORK—UP—A few facts from "Sports for Recreation," a highly informative athletic book, prepared by the University of Michigan Intramural Sports Department:

Archery is one of the oldest of sports, yet one of the most popular of its type in modern times. It is one sport that had its inception as a means of self-preservation rather than amusement. Badminton is now to the United States but really is an old game. It originated in India and was first called "Poono." British army officers introduced it to England.

Baseball, originated in 1839, was on the upswing as a national sport with the start of the Civil War, then interest was expected to decline when the young men were called to war. But the game boomed because numerous teams were formed in army training camps.

STARTED BY CHANCE
Here's how indoor baseball started: One Thanksgiving Day, a group of men were assembled in a gymnasium and, just for fun, one of them threw a boxing glove which was struck with a broom by another in the group. This was a challenge for an informal game. Rules were then drawn up and better equipment devised.

Basketball is the youngest of major school sports. It was originated in 1891 by Dr. James Naismith. It was one of the few games deliberately invented. A group of prominent Scouters visited the camp during last week end, assisting with the construction of the new dining lodge. The group included President W. B. Herms, Victor Lindblad, Louis Schuessler, William Huff, Ed Stoeckle, Bob Reid, Charles Wolf, District Commissioners Mitchell and Dauer, and Keltman. Camp Director Don Seaman expects to be able to use the new dining lodge within a few weeks and to use the old lodge for recreational activities.

A new athletic field has been constructed for the traditional evening athletic activities, including a new baseball diamond, volleyball courts, and horseshoe pits. Competition in these sports, as well as the water sports will be held among the troops throughout the summer. Under Norman Wilson, handicraft director, instruction and competition in archery will be held. With a staff composed of experts in every field of scouting endeavor, scouts at camp this year will have an unusual opportunity for advancement in rank. Under Camp Director Seaman and his assistant, F. C. Shallenberger, will be Norman Wilson, handicraft director; Charles Wheeler, nature director; Ed Schuessler, hike-master; Curtis Cooper, camp scoutmaster; Paul Ehret, waterfront director; Dale Davis, six weeks' scoutmaster; Don McNulty, quartermaster; Russell Taubert, doctor; and Dan Morae, chef.

Assisting these men will be outstanding older scouts, including Alden Turner, Russell Leist, Don Gerrard, Hinsdale Latour, Gordon Davenport, John Corbett, Dick Escher, Charles Rosenthal, John Fairchild, Lueder Catermole and Dick Wilson.

CCC Workers

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal., June 25.—UP—Three hundred civilian conservation camp workers fought through fire-blackened canyons tonight in a futile effort to check a raging forest fire that was completely out of control and threatening the vast San Bernardino forest preserves.

The blaze burned up the west slope of the San Bernardino range and was sweeping through Cajon Pass. Forestry men said it was the worst blaze in this area in two years.

In the other bouts, Peter Shinn lost a decision to Chris Barroze; Don Edwards won the nod over Leo Grimes; Frank Gonzales knocked out Clarence Hocker in the third round; Hawkins won by a technical knockout over Peter Sturgis in the third round; Milton Walker defeated Johnny Fioja and Charlie Gutierrez; lost a decision to Jack Kennedy.

Scout Camp At Wolfsboro Is Being Prepared

In anticipation of the most extensive camping season in years, staff members of Camp Wolfsboro, Berkeley-Contra Costa Area Council Boy Scout camp are spending this week in camp making final preparations for the arrival of the first group of Scouts Saturday. Plans for the season's activities, as well as this year's physical improvements to the camp, are nearing completion.

A group of prominent Scouters visited the camp during last week end, assisting with the construction of the new dining lodge. The group included President W. B. Calols Win From RPM's In S. O. Loop

The RPM's hung a 5-5 defeat on the Calols last night in a game played in the Standard Oil League at the First Street field.

The losers scored one run in the first and four in the fourth while the winners garnered three in the third and three in the fifth.

The first three RPM runs came home when Matteri doubled, Stevart was hit by a pitched ball, Fitzgerald walked and filled the bases and then White made an error that allowed the runners to score. The other three runs came in the fifth inning. Schimpff walked but was caught off first base and Stevart was on by a fielder's choice. Then Fitzgerald walked. With two men on bases, Cola smashed out a homer.

The Calol's first run came in the first inning when Wilson homed. The big inning was in the fourth when Bartoli doubled and Roe was safe on an error. However he was caught off second. Adams then singled and Lamarr, White and Wilson followed suit to send four runs across the plate.

Adams was the leading hitter for the day, getting two for three. The game was sloppily played with the winners getting six runs on five hits. The hit score:

BERKELEY, June 25.—UP—Regional Resettlement Administration headquarters here today announced instructions had been issued to concentrate federal, regional and state agricultural and irrigation engineering in the Utah Basin, Utah to complete a land-use planning survey of 4,000,000 acres of rich but unexploited territory.

The region is located in Duchesne and Uinta counties, bounded on the north by the Utah mountains, on the west by the Wasatch range, on the south by the Bookcliff mountains, and on the east by the Colorado state line.

Driver is Jailed On Drunk Charges

Carl A. Durent, 38, of Oakland, was lodged in the El Cerrito city jail yesterday morning on charges of driving while drunk following his arrest by Patrolman Howard Thulin. Bail has been set at $200. Durent was arrested after a 75-mile-an-hour chase down San Pablo Avenue through the City of El Cerrito.

CARDINALS AND PHILS DIVIDE DOUBLE BILL

NEW YORK, June 25.—UP—The St. Louis Cardinals and the Philadelphia Phillies divided a double-header today by identical scores, the Phils taking the opener 13-14 and the Cards the nightcap 13-14. The Cardinals' National League lead was cut to a half game as the second place Chicago Cubs swept the first of a twin bill with the Boston Bees.

The Cubs pulled within .002 points of the league lead by defeating the Bees, 1 to 0, and 8 to 2. Although "Tiny" Jim Chanin held the Cubs to three hits in the opener, Gabby Hartnett's single in the first inning with Hack on second, brought in the winning run. Bill Lee issued nine hits, but held the Bees scoreless.

The New York Giants moved into third place by licking the Pittsburgh Pirates, 5 to 4, to take the series four games to one. Cincinnati's Reds moved nearer the first division with a double triumph over the Brooklyn Dodgers, 5 to 1, and 5 to 1. The Reds now trail the fourth place Pirates by only two and a half games, after taking four straight from the Dodgers. Cincinnati outfielder, Fred Goodman, smacked a home run the eighth inning of each game.

In the American, the leading Yankees scored a 7 to 1 victory over the Chicago White Sox despite being eighth, 10-9. The Yanks continued their long range hitting with Rolfe, Gehrig and Dickey walloping four homers. It was Gehrig's 17th circuit clout of the season. The second place Boston Red Sox kept pace with a 9 to 4 decision over the Cleveland Indians. First baseman Jimmy Fox hit homers No. 20 and 21.

Schoolboy Rowe found his winning stride again today and hurled a two-hit masterpiece to give the Detroit Tigers a 13-1 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics. The Tigers ran wild, blasting Fink and Dietz for 19 safeties, including two doubles and two singles by Al Simmons, who led the hit parade. One of the two safeties allowed by Rowe was a homer by Bob Johnson in the fifth. The win moved the Tigers into fourth place and shunted the Indians back into fifth.

The Washington Senators kept a tight grip on third place with a 12-5 triumph over the St. Louis Browns.

Tavern Owners Ask Board To Clear Squires

SAN FRANCISCO, June 25.—UP—Members of the Tavern Owners' Association of California today passed a resolution recommending that all charges of misconduct in office against the late Elwood Squires, assistant secretary of the State Board of Equalization, be dropped.

The resolution stressed that Squires, said by investigators to be one of those persons most seriously involved in charges of graft and extortion, did not have an opportunity to defend himself before his sudden death.

HELEN MOODY, PARTNER IN NET VICTORY

PERKELEY, Cal., June 25.—UP—Mrs. Helen Wills Moody and her partner, Edward G. Chad, outclassed their quarterfinal opponents, Mrs. Patsy McCoy Brown, San Francisco, and Stanley Almonist, Oakland, today, winning 6-1, 6-2 in a mixed doubles match of the California tennis tournament.

Mrs. Moody, playing in superb form, and Chandler, forced their opponents to the defensive early in the match. Mrs. Brown and Almonist resorted to a lobbing game, a measure designed to keep the Wimbledon singles champion and her partner away from the net but they could not cope with the gives-blases Luck at them. "Pop" Fuller, veteran Berkeley tennis club coach who trained Mrs. Moody before she entered competitive ranks, predicted after watching her today she will retain her national singles title this year.

Senator Dill Faces Wife in Divorce Court

SPOKANE, Wash., June 25.—UP—Former Senator Clarence C. Dill and Mrs. Rosalie Jones Dill, wealthy New York feminist, today faced each other in divorce court while women scrambled for front-row seats.

Opening blast in what promised to be two weeks of mud-slinging was made by attorneys for Mrs. Dill, as they began to counter to the ponderous and novel complaint in which Senator Dill accused his wife of "cheap and gaudy dress," miserly and unsanitary housekeeping, slanderous statements regarding his political integrity and telling people he was going blind and "borrowing money from everybody."

2 OFFICIALS OF CITY TO FACE CHARGE

same session of the grand jury, was informed of the action in jail, where he has been held since yesterday on the order of Earl Warren, district attorney.

Fritz' dismissal and the return of indictments against him and Bryant culminated a four-day investigation into charges of gross irregularities in the city administration of Alameda. The indictments were based on conflicting stories told by Fritz and Bryant in the handling of City Employees' Association funds, Warren said.

FACES CHARGES
Bryant was indicted after he testified before the jury he had given Fritz $1500 from the funds of the association, of which he was president and then refuted this testimony, only to turn about again and testify he did, according to Warren.

It developed that Fritz and Bryant, according to their stories, had planned to "get together" beforehand and arrange similar versions of the handling of the association's funds, Warren said. Fritz was indicted under a penal code provision which prohibits attempts to have other persons testify falsely in one's behalf before a grand jury. He was held under $6,000 bail.

Fritz' dismissal from the city management culminated a long municipal feud of which he was the focal point. So-called better government groups sought to have Koebke, Broyles and Munro recalled because of their support of the former engineer. Fritz himself was not subject to recall.

who were once political allies and close personal friends—Smith and Roosevelt. A small group in the left balcony brought out banners reading, "Al Smith Democrats" and "We Want Smith," while members of the Young Democratic Clubs of America were parading the hall, blowing tin horns. Roosevelt men charged toward them. There was a flurry of fists, men crumpled to the floor and police had to be called to clear one end of the convention hall.

RAMMED THROUGH

All opposition to abrogation of the two-thirds rule was sternly suppressed by Senator Robinson, convention chairman. There seemed to be about an equal division of "yes" and "noes" when he called for a vote on the question of accepting the report of the rules committee, which contains the provision for abrogating the two-thirds rule.

"The ayes have it," he yelled and a chorus of protest came from the delegates stretched back across the floor. Adoption of the platform was forced through in much the same manner.

PLATFORM ADOPTED

PHILADELPHIA, June 25.—UP—The 1936 New Deal platform strongly pledging a sound currency, a balanced budget, at the earliest possible moment, and a constitutional amendment if necessary to achieve the party's broad social program was adopted tonight by the Democratic national convention.

The 2000 word document, filled with condemnation of the Republican party and shouting praises of the record of President Roosevelt and his administration was a compromise designed to appeal to conservatives and liberals alike.

PLANS TOLD

The platform listed three inescapable obligations of government to its citizens—protection of the family and the home, establishment of a democracy of opportunity for all the people and aid to those overtaken by disaster—and said they would never be neglected.

1. Continued use of federal powers against "malefactors of great wealth who defraud and exploit the people."

2. Expansion of the social security program.

3. A fair price to consumer and producer.

4. Continuance of the rural electrification program.

5. Extension of federal housing projects.

6. Just treatment to war veterans and their dependents.

7. A sweeping plan to aid agriculture.

8. Protection of the right of labor to bargain collectively and continuation of federal machinery to settle labor disputes.

9. Elimination of cut-throat competition in business.

10. Assistance to youth.

11. Federal destruction of monopolistic practices.

12. Federal aid to victims of "acts of God."

13. Adequate protection to farmers and manufacturers against unfair competition or dumping of goods produced by cheap labor.

14. A constitutional amendment if the social program cannot be achieved otherwise.

15. Extension of the merit system through classified civil service.

16. Freedom of speech, press, radio, religion and assembly.

17. A sound currency.

18. A balanced budget and reduction of the national debt.

YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Increase of Cancer Due to Longer Life and Neglect of Early Symptoms

By CLAUD NORTH CHRISMAN, M.D. CANCER is on the increase. Let us look squarely at this fact. There are two great reasons for this increase. One is the fact that more persons are living to the age of fifty and beyond and cancer is more common after that age.

The next great cause is the great fear of cancer. One thing that would decrease the occurrence of cancer, we really believe, would be the elimination of this fear. Another important thing that the people must be taught is that cancer is curable. To most people cancer means a death sentence. Nothing can be further from the truth. True, by the time the patient seeks advice, and a diagnosis is made, it has often reached an incurable stage. But in the early stages most cancer is curable. The fear of cancer is the great cause of it in the early stages. That does not sound reasonable but it is true. Many, many patients have come with some lump, sore, or swelling that has existed for months, and when I asked why they waited so long they have said, "Oh! I was afraid you would say it was cancer, but I just decided I couldn't delay any longer."

Well, if it did happen to be a cancer, they had already waited too long. Do not be afraid that you may be neglecting one till it becomes incurable.

Early Cure Easy

There are only a few cases or locations of the disease that cannot be cured if seen and diagnosed in the early stages. Another great fear is that it is inherited. Many persons still feel that a case of cancer in the family is a taint in the blood and it should not be spoken of. It is no more hereditary than is a small pox or a broken leg. It is a universal disease in both the animal and vegetable kingdom and among all races and species. It is said to be uncommon among savage tribes. Well, they have no physicians and no one to make a diagnosis, and few savages live to the age of fifty.

Another source of fear is that it is contagious. Many persons will not visit a cancer patient for fear of "catching" it. There are no records that show that a surgeon contracted the disease, while operating on a patient with the disease and nurses have cared for them for months with no injury. True, surgeons have had cancer, but not through catching it from their patients.

Not Always Painful

It does not occur more frequently in certain districts or certain streets or houses. It is only that in certain places more people have lived to the cancer age.

Another one of the great mistakes that people make, which is the cause of much delay, is the common opinion that a cancer should hurt. Many have said, "Oh, I noticed that lump or swelling, but it did not hurt so I thought nothing of it."

In the early stages cancer is not painful, and often this is the case in rather late advances. It is only when destruction of tissue has exposed the nerves, or swelling and outside infection have taken place, that the pain begins.

If a patient finds a lump and does not take care of it till pain appears, the chances are that it is cancerous, is much less than it was before. A patient with a lump, or abnormal discharge, who has no pain and feels well is more likely to have a cancer than if they felt sick. The absence of pain is a most deceiving element in cancer.

Modes and Manners

QUESTION: "I will appreciate your answering the following questions for me: What is proper for a bridegroom to wear at an afternoon church wedding, where the bride wears a veil? How should the ushers be dressed?"

—A. M. N.

ANSWER: At a simple wedding a bridegroom may wear a dark blue sack suit with a white shirt, four-in-hand tie and black waistcoat. At a formal afternoon wedding, the bridegroom wears a morning coat, dark gray trousers with small stripes, a solid white or solid black waistcoat. He wears a wing collar, a white tie, or a black four-in-hand with small white dots, gray suede gloves, black calfkin low shoes, plain black silk socks and a tall top hat. The ushers always dress the same as the bridegroom, whether the wedding is simple and informal or elaborate.

QUESTION: "At table, how full should water glasses be filled?"

—P. R.

ANSWER: They should be filled three-quarters full.

Guide to Charm

Proper Foot Care Gives New Energy

By JACQUELINE HUNT

FEET FIRST! If you want to step along with a buoyant, youthful stride, a smile on your lips and your forehead serene, see that your feet are given as much attention as your hands and face during the hot summer months! Cleanliness is the first essential for feet. A daily foot bath will save you many aches and pains and many wrinkles. If you are a shower addict, then your foot bath should be taken in addition. If you enjoy a nightly tub, then your feet get washed along with the rest of you.

In either case, be sure to dry the feet thoroughly, especially around the toes and between them. It is a good plan to dust your feet with a good foot powder or powdered boric acid before you pull on your hose. It will help deodorize and absorb the perspiration, and it feels delightfully soothing when you must walk on hot pavements.

When the feet are tired and burning in the evening, a foot cream is cooling and comforting. There is one usually soothing cream containing menthol that you will like to have on hand for such emergencies.

Once a week, devote half an hour to the care of your feet. Soak your feet in warm water for five minutes, then bathe with soap-suds. Use your nail brush for the toes and rough spots on the ankles and heels. Then rinse in tepid water. Dry with a rough towel, washing the cuticles back and wiping off any deadened and loosened particles.

Clip or file the toenails in a slight oval, leaving the nail long enough to protect the sensitive tissue underlying the tip. And do so at the corners too close. To do so will often cause ingrown toenails. Smooth and bevel the edges with an emery board after the nails have been shortened.

If you are a modest lady who doesn't care to expose her toes to the public, and wouldn't think of using such a thing as gay nail polish, your next step is foot-massage.

Use a soothing, medicated balm. If you wish, or any good cold cream. Place a little of the cream between the palms of your hands, rub your hands together to spread the cream and then get to work.

Place the hands on the foot near the toes so the fingers of the left hand grasp the sole firmly and the fingers of the right hand lie along the top of the foot. Then with a strong, pull, draw both hands backwards and upwards over the ankle and lower leg. Repeat six times with each foot. Knead the soles of your feet and the muscles of the legs by grasping the flesh firmly, rolling and relaxing.

Now start at the base of each toe, grasp this member firmly between thumb and finger and work along to the tip with a vigorous twisting and rubbing movement in a spiral fashion. Then hold the end of each toe and shake it vigorously up and down. Next smooth firmly from the tips to the bases as though you were putting on a glove. The massage movements arouse the circulation and help keep the muscles of the feet taut.

Beauty Tips

QUESTION: "What can I do for an extremely dry skin? I am fifteen and my mother objects to me using anything on my skin except hand lotion. I know that this doesn't help. Please help me. My skin not only looks rough and chapped all the time, but it feels irritated and there are fine lines around my mouth."

—H. J.

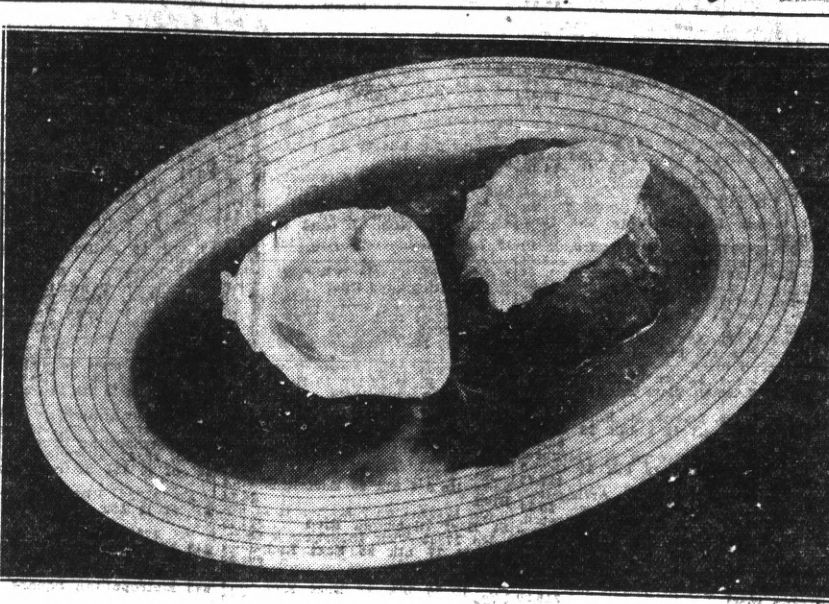

There is not enough oil in hand lotions to soften your dry skin. If your mother objects to you using a light, fluffy cold cream, then massage your skin gently with olive oil after washing thoroughly with warm water and soap. Olive oil is a splendid softener. I would also suggest a check-up on your diet. Perhaps you are not getting enough nourishing food. Try drinking more milk and eating more of the easily digestible foods like eggs, butter, cheese, bananas, dates and whole cereals. Of course you should also eat lots of fruit and vegetables. A change in diet might bring about a miraculous change in your skin condition.

A mask sometimes used for dry skins is made from 1 tablespoon powdered oatmeal mixed to a paste with witch hazel. Spread over the face and neck and leave for five minutes. Remove with tepid water, pat the face dry and apply a good muscle oil, previously warmed. Leave the muscle oil on the skin five minutes, then apply a softening cream and massage thoroughly. Remove the excess and rinse the face with cool water or pat with a mild skin tonic.

Codfish Balls in New England Style

In New England, codfish balls are often served this way: 1 package codfish; 6 medium sized potatoes; 1 large onion; 1 egg; lump butter; pepper; few drops lemon juice. After codfish has soaked for a few hours in cold water, boil with potatoes and onion until potatoes are soft. Drain and mash. Add one egg and lump of butter, pepper to season, and lemon juice. Roll into balls, fry in deep fat. This is the way the dish is prepared at the Hotel Times Square in New York.

Bags Match Vegetables Are Cheap Kerchiefs in Gay Colors So Serve Them Often

By JUDITH WILSON

JUNE brings peas, quantities and quantities of them, and the price is so reasonable that we can afford to serve them often. Big bowls of them simply boiled quickly in a small amount of salted water, then drained and dressed with butter, pepper and more salt if needed or served country style with thick cream are a treat for everyone.

June brings other vegetables, too—tiny, sweet carrots, vine-ripened tomatoes, crisp, bright-colored string beans, tender corn, spinach and beets. Cook them alone or in combination and see how much your family can enjoy a vegetable meal.

Vegetable Pie
Melt 3 tablespoons butter, add 5 tablespoons flour and stir until blended. Add 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon celery salt and 1/2 teaspoon paprika, then add 3 cups milk a little at a time and cook until the sauce is smooth and thick. Add 16 small white onions, cooked, 1 cup cooked peas, 1 cup cooked string beans or lima beans and 1 cup carrots, cooked and cut into rounds. Dice with a fancy cutter. Blend with the sauce and pour into a large baking dish. Cover with a rich biscuit crust to which 4 tablespoons peanut butter or 1/2 cup grated cheese has been added. Mince 4 strips raw bacon, very fine and sprinkle over the crust of the pie. Bake in a hot oven 20 minutes until the bacon is crisp and brown and the biscuit mixture done. This will serve 6 to 8.

Vegetable Platter
As a piece de resistance, scoop out the centers of ripe but firm tomatoes, sprinkle with salt and drain. Then fill with cooked macaroni that has been added to a rich cheese sauce. Heap up slightly and sprinkle with additional cheese and dry bread crumbs. Bake 15 minutes or until the tomatoes are thoroughly hot and the cheese and crumbs lightly browned. Arrange in a row in the center of your hot platter or diagonally in a square serving dish. Flank on each side with string beans, cut into long slivers and dressed with butter. Then on one side of the beans put tiny quartered carrots dressed with butter or glazed, and sprinkled with chopped fresh mint. On the other arrange new potatoes, cut into large balls with a fancy cutter, buttered and sprinkled with finely chopped parsley.

Peas with Ham
Put 2 tablespoons butter into a heavy covered saucepan or earthen casserole, and add 6 tablespoons chicken or meat stock. Shell 2 pounds peas, rinse quickly and put into the saucepan. Sprinkle with about 1 teaspoon salt and lay 12 very thin slices of boiled ham over the peas. Cover tightly and steam slowly until the peas are tender. If the moisture threatens to cook away, add a little more by tablespoons. Peas prepared in this way are delicious and make a light main dish for a hot day. Four to six servings.

MODERN WOMEN

Mrs. Martin Warns Against "Summer Loves" When People Are Too Young to Marry

By MARIAN MAYS MARTIN

BECAUSE it is so pathetically easy to mistake attraction and gratitude for love, and because propinquity so complicates the plot, I wish warning signs could be posted from now until vacation time is at an end. It is so easy to fall in love, and having fallen, so difficult to know which way to turn in order to stay there or get out.

"My dear Mrs. Martin: I notice in reading your column that men write to you. So I am coming to you with my problem, since it happens there is a young man among my acquaintances. I can talk to him intimately."

"I am nineteen and very much in love with a girl two years my senior. She is a grand girl and her mother has been wonderful to me all spring. I met her through another fellow, and I know she likes me better than any of the boys who try to go with her. I can't talk marriage to her because I can't support her, and don't know when I can. I'd marry her tomorrow if I could."

"I don't know what the difference in our ages, although I suppose you think I should. She has a luxurious home, and doesn't have to work unless she chooses. We are bound to see a great deal of each other this summer, as I am spending the summer near her home."

Naturally the second child also wanted to see the difference in our ages, although I suppose you think I should. She has a luxurious home, and doesn't have to work unless she chooses. We are bound to see a great deal of each other this summer, as I am spending the summer near her home.

Perfectly natural. He seemed to act as if it was a natural thing for the child to ask for it.

"But I haven't any money with me right now," said this father.

"When you have, will you buy me some?" replied the child, who evidently had set his mind on having some candy at some time, but not at present.

No one expects a child of four to have a sense of financial responsibility. But what the majority of parents fail to take into consideration is that even at four a child can be reasoned with.

Many take the attitude that matters of money do not concern the child, sometimes offering as an excuse the argument that young children don't seem able to grasp the meaning of money.

For example, a penny is more than a dime in their way of thinking, and it is not at all easy to convince them otherwise. But I hold that while a child may be too young to grasp ideas pertaining to quantity or value, he can't be too young to understand what is plausible and what is not.

A child will just as soon cry for the moon as for candy. He never questions whether it is procurable. He is aware only that he wants it. As a child grows older, he should not be told that there is no money. He should be familiar with the family's financial status. He should know what expenditures are made for rent, fuel, food and clothing.

When children have a frank idea of the family's finances, they are not likely to be unreasonable in their demands.

Make "Don'ts" Rare

Parents, go easy on your "don'ts." Never let them become automatic or merely a habit. And when you do use them, carry them through. Give them meaning. Let there be as few laws in your household as may be, but let those laws be enforced.

Never threaten if you do not intend to carry out that threat. Never say "don't" if there is any chance that you may be dragged down to a "do." The more you economize on your "don'ts," the more they will be respected.

OLD PEOPLE find way to keep breath wholesome

Halitosis (bad breath) quickly yields to Listerine, safe antiseptic and deodorant

Either because of stomach disturbances, food fermentation, or the wearing of ill-fitting teeth, old people frequently have halitosis (bad breath).
No wonder others consider them a nuisance.

Big new Science has found that the regular use of Listerine will offset offensive mouth odors due to the fermentation of tiny bits of food on mouth, teeth, or dental plate surfaces.

This safe antiseptic and quick deodorant works quickly. It cleanses mouth, teeth, and gum surfaces. Halts fermentation and putrefaction, a major cause of odors, and then counteracts the odors themselves.

Try using Listerine every two or three days.
See how much more wholesome it leaves your mouth. How it sweetens your breath. Lambert

Man Arrested For Taking Rum Across Border

TAHOE CITY, Cal., June 25.—UP—George Polus, Calneva resort waiter, was released on $500 bail today following his arrest by state liquor officers on a charge of importing liquor into California without a license. He assertedly bought beer and distilled liquor from a bar located in Nevada to patron's tables located in California.

The Calneva resort is situated directly on the California-Nevada state boundary. Prior to a quiet raid last night, officials made elaborate preparations, including a two weeks' engineering survey to determine in which part of the building Nevada's jurisdiction ended and California's began.

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY GO ROUND

PHILADELPHIA, June 25.—A little drama enacted during the closing hours of Congress is causing the behind-the-scenes boys of this convention more secret agony than any debate over two-thirds rule or platform. Evidently they admit that this dramatic by-play may lose Pennsylvania for Roosevelt, may also swing Ohio and West Virginia away from him.

It happened while the Senate was racing toward the wind-up. Seated in the gallery were John L. Lewis, powerful pro-Roosevelt chief of the United Mine Workers, and William Green, quavering head of the American Federation of Labor, who bitterly oppose each other in the conflict craft and industrial unionism.

Both were sponsoring bills vital to their interests. Green was backing the Walsh-Healey Bill applying NRA code standards to Government contracts. Lewis was backing the new Guffey Coal Bill permitting price-fixing and thereby union wages in the coal industry.

Suddenly, with no warning, Senator Pittman, president pro tempore, called up the Walsh-Healey Bill, and without half the Senate knowing what he was doing, yelled:

"Without objection the bill is passed. The yeas have it." So-called for the "aye" and "nay," but Pittman overruled him.

Thus Bill Green's bill was made law. Simultaneously, Pittman, chief lobbyist of the A. F. of L., was busy lobbying against John Lewis' bill.

New Deal politicians who knew what the Guffey Bill meant to the coal miner vote, threw duck-fits.

JOHN LEWIS IS THE staunchest labor supporter Roosevelt has. Not only did he buy $5,000 worth of advertising in the Convention Book, but he also bought $1,250 worth of books, and paid $1,000 for a ring-side box at the Convention. His 500,000 mine workers are counted upon by Jim Farley to swing Pennsylvania, Ohio, and West Virginia.

So, during the closing hours of Congress, Jim Farley called the White House from Philadelphia, told Presidential Secretary Marvin McIntyre that the Guffey Bill must be passed.

"If necessary, hold Congress in recess until the Convention is over," Jim urged. "Otherwise we lose the State of Pennsylvania."

Other master minds in Philadelphia also called the White House, emphasized how serious would be the miners' political reaction.

What the White House did not know, McIntyre spent part of Saturday afternoon in the cocktail lounge of the Mayflower. Twice, however, he called John L. Lewis, urged him — of all people — to do something about Senator Hastings, Republican oppositionist to the Bill. (Lewis and Hastings get along like two wildcats.)

In the end, Senator Joe Robinson, the man whom Roosevelt went all the way to Arkansas to L. L. E. got the floor at ten minutes of midnight and moved the concurrent resolution adjourning the Senate.

The Guffey Bill did not pass. To give its passage, the Administration should have begun real work on it a week before, or Congress could have been held over.

Instead, a spokesman for Roosevelt telephoned Lewis to say that the Democratic platform would include a plank favoring the Guffey Bill.

"That's mere lip service," Lewis replied. "It will take eight months or a year to pass a new bill, and during all that time what becomes of my men?"

A few minutes later, another phone call came from Philadelphia. One of Farley's assistants informed Lewis that Norman Thomas and Gardner Jackson were planning to picket the convention with striking share-croppers from Arkansas.

He wanted Lewis, who has given encouragement to the share-cropper strike, to call off the picketing.

"Why in hell should I pull your chestnuts out of the fire?" Lewis growled in reply. "What have you fellows done for me?"

"(Aell) It isn't going to help you and it will only hurt us," Farley's man replied. He also promised that Jackson and Thomas could have a conference with Joe Robinson, "czar of Arkansas," in Philadelphia in order to adjust the share-cropper dispute.

This message, when relayed to Norman Thomas by long distance telephone, received this response:

"Well, that may be very nice for the Democrats, but I'm running for President of the United States on the Socialist ticket and I'm going ahead with this."

Meanwhile, leaders of the share-cropper movement are drafting a plank for the Coughlin-Lemke third party which would put it categorically on record for the emancipation of the tenant farmer.

No wonder that, between coal-miners and share-croppers, New Deal master minds who know Roosevelt must set the labor-farm vote to win, are worried.

MERRY GO ROUND

Stens over a door at Democratic National Committee headquarters: "James A. Farley, Chairman"—and director under it a framed notice reading, "Pink Room."

The presence of the Democratic headquarters of the Union League Club, blazing over the front of the old rockribbed Republican stronghold, across the street from the Democratic headquarters, is a huge electric sign with these words: "Landon and Knox in 1936. Love of Country Leads." "Chip" Robert, former Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, had a very "touching" welcome to the city of brotherly love. The first night he was in town, his room was entered while he was asleep and his wallet stolen.

POWELL STARS BAND CONCERT IN FEATURE TO BE GIVEN FILM AT FOX HERE SUNDAY

The star of "The Great Ziegfeld," bringing recollections of "The Thin Man," William Powell and Jean Arthur are now playing at the Fox Theatre in "The Ex-Mrs. Bradford."

Murder mystery, comedy and romance are mixed in the film. The action of the picture is kept in a light comedy mood although the mystery builds on the apparently normal death of a jockey stricken while riding a favorite.

Discovering that it is murder, Powell gets in some neat and thrilling detective work in setting a trap among seven suspects and finds that he himself is the most likely suspect in the eyes of the law. The romance between Miss Arthur and Powell is fastinating. She is the former wife who has made up her mind to remarry him. The complications resulting from this love are amusing.

James Gleason, Eric Blore, Robert Armstrong, Lila Lee, Grant Mitchell, Erin O'Brien Moore and Ralph Morgan are in the supporting cast.

Another story with the same heart throbs as "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," Kate Douglas Wiggin's "Timothy's Quest" is the second picture on the bill. Eleanor Whitney, Dickie Moore and Virginia Weidler are featured.

"Mary and I," says this young husband, "have to thank the monthly payment idea for nearly all the substantial things we own. Our house, our car, our furniture, and most of the electrical equipment that lightens Mary's job as homemaker. Buying this way has helped us organize our budget. It's kept us from just frittering away our money. But no matter what other monthly payments we're making, there's always one that comes first... a monthly deposit in our Savings Account. It buys the peace of mind that makes all our other purchases worth while."
